Underwriting Bankers Fail to Receive Security Act Exemption

WASHINGTON—The Wall Street drive against the Securities Act has not abated a bit. But as Congress draws toward its close, the fight has taken a more subtle turn.

The latest was a move made through the unsuspecting and sometimes slightly glib Henry Morgenthau, who, while heartily for the Securities Act, doesn't want to see the flow of private capital curtailed.

So last week, Young Henry invited Senator Fletcher, Rock-of-Gibraltar Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee to lunch. At lunch also were various New York bankers. The strategy the bankers outlined briefly was this:

To relieve underwriting houses of any liability under the Securities Act.

This would mean that a big underwriting house, for instance J. P. Morgan and Company, would underwrite an issue but not distribute it. The distributing houses would be liable for losses under the Securities Act, but not the underwriting house.

The catch, however, is that salesmen of the bonds immediately would whisper: "This is underwritten by the House of Morgan," which might carry real weight.

Old Senator Fletcher listened carefully to the plan, proved the granite wall he has been ever since the banking investigation started. He said: "No."

Comfortable

Farm-born and reared, Henry Wallace makes no pretense at being a Beau Brummel.

Employees of the Agriculture Department over which he presides never are surprised to see him with his tie askew, a forelock hanging over his nose, and clothes disheveled.

But they were astonished the other day when the Secretary of Agriculture calmly padded in his socks through the corridors of their building to his private office.

Wallace had not gone "native." What had happened was that he had spent a part of his lunch hour playing tennis on a public court in nearby Potomac Park, when a messenger hurriedly called him to answer a phone call from the White House. His tennis shoes hurting him, Henry had removed them, walked the short distance in his stocking feet.

Lucky Break

Roosevelt's friends view "The Literary Digest" poll as about the luckiest thing that could have happened to the New Deal.

Those friends who have their ears to the ground are convinced—and it looks as if they are right—that Roosevelt still has overwhelming support throughout the country. He may have slipped a little, but not much.

The "Digest" poll began by showing this, and chances are it will continue to do so.

With such concrete evidence before voters and candidates this fall, a big boost is given to the President's slogan of "Support the President." Most politicians are sheep. They go with the flock.

Sissy

Speaking of chips from the old block, consider the case of Eugene Vidal, Jr., 12-year-old son of Commerce Department Director of Aeronautics.

Since Eugene was 4 years old, he has been flying in airplanes, but never has his father been willing to do any stunting with him. However, at the ripe old age of 12, he finally persuaded Director Vidal that he was old enough to try some fancy stuff.

They went for a brief hop over nearby Virginia, did some minor maneuvers. Young Eugene came back looking blue. Fred Roper, son of the Commerce Department Secretary, asked Eugene junior whether he had done a vertical turn.

"You mean that thing where you turn on one side?" inquired the youth. "Sure, but that's nothing. I tried to get him to fly"

FATHER SLAYS SON, 20, FACES DEATH CHARGE

Harley Stewart, of Near Laurelville, Surrenders After Running Away

ARGUMENT IS CAUSE

Question Two in Death of Aged Widow

Harley Stewart, 50, of near Laurelville, was held in Hocking jail today without bail, accused of shooting to death his 20-year-old son, Carl, after an argument over a dog.

Stewart, who disappeared into the hills surrounding his home, was taken into custody Tuesday morning at the home of a neighbor, William Truax, by Joe Farbeann, Hocking-co deputy sheriff.

According to Farbeann, he admitted the killing. It is believed first degree murder charges will be filed.

The shooting happened, it is reported, after Stewart killed a dog belonging to his son Sunday. While arguing Monday afternoon, the father locked himself in the house and the youth, trying to get in, broke a window in the kitchen door. It is claimed the father shot his son from a distance of five feet.

FLED INTO WOODS

Stewart then fled with his single-barrel shotgun.

Neighbors said he had driven his wife from the home two weeks ago.

The young man died at the home at 5 p. m. Tuesday, two hours after he was shot.

Besides his father he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Clara Mae Congrove Stewart, and two brothers, residents of Chicago. The Stewart family is well known in the Laurelville district.

Funeral arrangements in charge of H. E. Defenbaugh and Son, of Turlington, are incomplete.

PAIR QUESTIONED

GREENVILLE, May 22.—Two men, brothers, have been picked up at Terre Haute, Ind., in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Belle Harter, 69-year-old widow, and the looting of her home in New Madison, near here, Sheriff Lynn Brown of Darke-co, announced today.

Sheriff Brown said he would leave immediately for Terre Haute to take the pair into custody.

The men being held at Terre Haute gave their names as Cassius Chandler, 23, and Erwin Chandler, 20, both of Grand Falls, N. Y. Advice here stated that they had confessed to looting Mrs. Harter's home, but denied knowledge of the woman's death.

Mrs. Harter's unclothed body was found in her home yesterday where she lived alone. She had been beaten, gagged and lashed to her bed. The house had been turned topsy-turvy apparently in a search for money.

ROBBERS AGAIN ENTER SCHOOL

Thieves broke a lock on a window in the domestic science room of the high school building, Monday night, to gain entrance but after a check-up today it was determined nothing was stolen from the building.

The door to Supt. E. L. Daley's office was pried open but nothing taken from ransacked drawers. The thieves were apparently seeking money.

It was the second attempt to perpetrate a robbery at the school in the last month.

Wiley Post Planning Two Spectacular Efforts To Break Existing Records

NEW YORK, May 22.—Wiley Post of Oklahoma City, famous round-the-world aviator, has two spectacular flights in mind, he revealed in an interview today.

They are:

1. A high altitude speed flight at around 300 miles an hour.

2. An England to Australia flight (12,000 miles) in less than three days.

Post, who hasn't been front page news in a big way since last summer, is quietly tuning up his globe-girdling monoplane, "Winnie Mae," at Newark (N. J.) airport for the two projected flights.

IN FEW WEEKS

He intends to make the altitude flight first—possibly within the next few weeks. Just when, or from what airport, he would not say.

The other flight he will attempt next October in connection with the MacRobertson International air race from London, England, to Melbourne, Australia, for a purse of 12,000 pounds which, at current rates, is $61,680.

Post was asked to predict how fast he thought the trip from London to Melbourne could be made. He replied:

"The only thing in the way of a prediction from me on that flight was when I was talking to an Australian and I told him the winner of the race would make it within 72 hours."

Post said the "Winnie Mae" has been equipped with all kinds of new gadgets. He wouldn't say how much the special apparatus cost him.

"That's my business," he said.

MOTOR CHARGED

At any rate the plane will use a supercharger on the motor and also a controllable pitch propeller and other equipment which he expects will raise the ship's normal high speed from 185 miles an hour up to around 300 miles an hour.

GALION, May 22.—Loot obtained by the two machine-gun bandits who raided the Commercial Savings Bank here yesterday and escaped after forcing three bank employees to accompany them in their automobile as shields, today was officially established at $5,403.40.

Definite check on the amount of the loot was made while police officials throughout this section of the state were conducting a vigorous search for the two gunmen, one of whom is believed to be Homer Van Meter, a Dillinger henchman.

Suspicion that one of the bandits may have been Van Meter arose following the announcement of police that the license number on the automobile used by the two men was the same as that on the car used by two men who robbed a Fostoria bank of $17,000 recently, and escaped after wounding five persons, including Police Chief Frank Culp.

One of the two men in the Fostoria bank holdup was identified as Van Meter.

The bandits yesterday staged the holdup here at about 2:30 p. m. They escaped after forcing Miss Hazel Nickols, a bookkeeper, and assistant cashier C. W. Tracht and Earl Clements to accompany them in their automobile. Miss Nickols and the two assistant cashiers later were released unharmed about three miles north of Galion.

The robbery was the second staged at the Commercial Savings Bank here in the last six years. In 1928, the bank was robbed by "Pretty Wilbur" Hand and his gang.

Saturday is Poppy Day

Saturday, May 26th, is Poppy Day in Circleville and on that day members of the American Legion auxiliary and members of Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops, sponsored by the Legion and Auxiliary, will be on the streets selling Poppies.

Poppies to you, perhaps, are just crumpled rosettes of crimson crepe paper to wear once a year for memory's sake; but to the men in hospitals who have fashioned them, they are little, bright red doors to the land of opportunity. Each little flower means pennies for the pockets and helps to transform dreary hours into sunny minutes.

The poppies which the Auxiliary sell on Poppy Day are made by disabled veterans in forty-three

RELIEF FROM HEAT IS SEEN; AGAIN AT 93

Rain Promised in Many States Where Drought Has Tight Grasp

HAIL HITS CHICAGO

Damage Done on Century of Progress Grounds

CHICAGO, May 22.—Rains and cooler temperatures brought new hope today to many areas of the drought-ridden Central states, but the specter of lean crops remained.

While the showers and thunderstorms brought relief from the four day heat wave crop experts said the precipitation was insufficient to repair the damage already done to growing wheat and small grains.

Heavy rains deemed necessary to salvage an appreciable part of the early crops were not yet in sight, government weather bureau observers said.

RAIN PROMISED

Showers were promised today for central and southern Illinois, upper Michigan, southeastern Michigan, southern Indiana, south and east central Missouri and southeastern Kansas.

Heavy rains within the next few days will permit a near-normal yield of late crops such as corn.

COST HAS MEANING

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Cost of living has a meaning—even for unemployed on relief rolls.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, said today that this cost has risen 20 per cent. He said it was due to increased cost of the things bought for relief purposes and did not mention the NRA.

A drive is under way to drop from the rolls every family which does not have a genuine claim for relief.

corn, it was pointed out. But a broiling sun and one of the longest spring droughts on record has brought ruin, generally, to the wheat and other small grain crops.

Showers and cooling winds sent the temperature tumbling here from 92 degrees to 64 degrees over a period of eight hours. Cooler temperatures broke the heat wave in other states as well.

Hail fell here, accompanied by high winds that tore down two large sheet iron smoke stacks and did minor damage at the Century of Progress grounds. High winds accompanied a drenching 1.20 inch rain at Milwaukee.

CLEVELAND, May 22.—Overcast skies and cool winds today broke the heat wave here which yesterday sent temperatures to an all-time record for early summer. The mercury at its highest point had a reading of 89 degrees.

Showers were forecast by weathermen today but the cool winds served to snap the heat wave even before the rain started falling.

TAXI STRIKE ENDS

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Agreeing to a seven-point truce, Columbus taxicab drivers today returned to work after a two-day strike.

The truce, which was reached last night at the conclusion of a three and one-half hour conference between cab owners and drivers, will remain in effect until next Monday when the new state recovery code for the industry is scheduled to be placed in operation.

Agreement to the truce, which provides among other things for the installation of meters in all taxicabs by June 5, brought an end to fears that violence might attend the strike.

CHICAGO, May 22.—From temporary one store frame shacks erected amid the wreckage of the $8,000,000 Union Stock yards fire commission merchants today were carrying on "business as usual" in the world's greatest live stock market.

DR. JOHN MAY, NEW HOLLAND, DIES TUESDAY

Father of C. H. May Passes Away After Long Service to Community

WAS 92 ON MAY 2

Widow, Eight Children Survived Aged Man

Dr. John E. May, Pickaway-co's eldest physician and one of its most highly respected men, died quietly at his home in New Holland, Tuesday at 7:40 a. m. He had been in declining health for several months. Infirmities of age after a long and valuable life caused his death.

Dr. May observed his ninety-second birthday anniversary May 2.

Surviving the aged physician and surgeon are: his widow, Mrs. Mary M. Holter May, whom he married 62 years ago, and who is in poor health, and the following children: Charles H., local attorney, who is the eldest child; Mrs. Charles M. Clifton, near New Holland; Misses Elizabeth and Lena at home; Perry of New Holland; James G., a New Concord newspaper publisher; John B. Jr., of Washington D. C., an employee of the U. S. naval department for more than 25 years, and Mrs. Young H. Yarbrough, of Milledgeville, Georgia.

SERVICES INCOMPLETE

Funeral arrangements have not been completed pending word from the children who live at a distance.

Dr. May was born in Leskville, North Carolina, May 2, 1842, a son of John W., and Elizabeth Wilson May. He removed to New Holland during the Civil War where he rapidly developed an extensive practice. Dr. May's idea of the medical profession was not "Does he have the money to pay?" but "Am I needed?" One of Dr. May's characteristics which will always be remembered is his willingness to go where he was needed. In his account books were often found entries charging a certain sum to "a man who lives on so-and-so's farm."

NEVER HAD AUTOMOBILE

Dr. May never owned nor operated an automobile using a bicycle in his earlier days to make his calls. In later years his clients would come for him in automobiles.

It was said Tuesday that Dr. May, whose sight was rapidly failing, was in a consultation two weeks ago.

During the great influenza epidemic of World War times Dr. May, even in his then advanced age, did everything possible to combat the ravages of the disease. He traveled as far east as Boston in fighting the "flu."

The deceased was a member of the Masonic lodge over 60 years, and served for many years on the New Holland village board of education. He never sought a political office.

He is a past president of the Pickaway-co Medical society, serving as its president when the Berger hospital was constructed.

Straw-board "9" in Form, Turns Back Oils; Score 9-2

With Bud Oliver and his teammates putting on the clamps when Circleville Oil runners were on the bases the Contained Corporation team continued to win Monday evening by taking the Oils to the tune of 9-2.

It was a real ball game for five innings with the Oils scoring two unearned runs in the first inning after two were out and the straw-board tying it in the fourth. Carl Purcell pitched good ball for the Oil team through the first five frames, errors hurting him in the fourth, but in the sixth the straw-board outfit tallied five runs after two were out.

Trimmer singled to second base, a hard smash that was knocked down. Everyone was safe when an attempt to force Trimmer on George Brungs' grounder failed. Stevens fanned and Whaley flied out to Barnes but Steele was unable to hold Walker's hot grounder and the bases were full. Walter Brungs then drove a single to left scoring to center and when Moore let the ball get through him for an error Brannon circled the paths driving two men in ahead of him.

FIVE ENOUGH

Those five runs were plenty considering the way Oliver was hurling.

The Oils threatened in their half of the eighth when Steele and Merriman singled to start the inning. Steele raced to third on Merriman's hit, the latter going to second on the throw. Barnes shot a low liner into right but Walter Brungs made a nice catch of it. The fielding highlight came on the next play when Walker leaped high into the air for Purcell's bid snatching the ball with his fingertips. Moore popped ending the inning.

Oliver fanned seven batters and issued two charity tickets to first while Purcell forced five to bite the breeze and walked but one.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Members of the straw-board team were jubilant over their one sided victory over the Circleville Oils, Monday evening, and after the ball game celebrated the victory in a big way—R. E. Norris, the team's manager, was host to a party on the lawn of his home. All team members, several members of the opposition, straw-board officials and "Solly," "Rabbi," "Augustiner," "Slough Foot," McNeal enjoyed the party. Rather the party enjoyed Mr. etc. etc. McNeal.

The shoe-shiner, who once tried to impersonate Little Jack Little on an uptown street corner, put on some wierd dances for the sport enthusiasts—Some guitarists also had part in the program.

It seems that this is fish season but Casey Marion tells a mushroom story that has all the earmarks of a prevarication—He says he found one weighing six pounds and measuring 40 inches in diameter—The boys at the Elks are somewhat reluctant to believe the veracity of the statement, and since Casey didn't press his point, he doubts it too.

This Cleveland Indian ball club, which closely resembles the Toledo Mud Hens of a couple of years ago, seems to be on the way toward some kind of honor. The Indians have bumped the Yankees twice in the Cleveland park and are hoping to take Vernon Gomez into camp today. Former Toledo players with Cleveland are Pearson, Bean, Lee, Pytlak, Trosky, Hale, Knickerbocker.

SOLONS HEAR MONEY ACTION

FDR Asks Congress to Establish Silver; Monetary Agreement Studied.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—President Roosevelt today asked congress to establish silver as 25 percent of the metallic currency base of the United States and revealed that he is even now working with other nations toward an international monetary standard embracing both the white metal and gold. The silver request was expected. Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that he has already started conversations leading to an international monetary agreement came as a surprise. The president outlined the steps contemplated under the silver operations, told of the need for international action, and said: "Accordingly, I have begun to confer with some of our neighbors in regard to the use of both silver and gold, preferably on a coordinated basis, as a standard of monetary value. Such an agreement would constitute an important step forward toward a monetary unit of value more equitable and stable in its purchasing and debt paying power."

HITLER MOB UNDER GUARD

IRVINGTON, N. J., May 22.—Three hundred avowed Hitlerites were being held in jail here for their own protection early today as an aftermath of bloody riots between Nazi and anti-Nazi sympathizers.

Dozens were injured and untold others were arrested, as reserve police squads from Newark and this city battled with tear gas bombs and night sticks to quell a disorder which raged for several hours in the principal section of the town.

The 300 Hitlerites had been attending a meeting sponsored by the friends of the New Germany and were taken to police headquarters in heavily guarded patrol wagons.

GUARD THROUGH DAY

Police planned to keep them under guard until some time today when all possibility of their being set upon again had passed.

The rioting involved more than 2,000 persons and more than 100 policemen were required to restore order.

Then it was learned that the friends of the New Germany were to hold their meeting a large crowd of anti-Nazi sympathizers collected in the street outside the hall and when the first group of uniformed men attempted to enter the auditorium they were set upon amidst catcalls and derisive shouts.

Several of the injured were taken to hospitals, but so far as could be determined, none was injured seriously.

AT THE CLIFTONA

If you suffer from a weak heart, don't go to see the "Mystery of Mr. X," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new thriller now at the Cliftona Theatre.

For the new film is packed with more excitement and hair-raising elements than this reviewer has seen for a long, long time. Robert Montgomery stars as Revel, suave gentleman thief who sets the pace at the outset by stealing the famous Drayton diamond. But the horrors enter with the introduction of "X"—or rather his shadow—for you don't see him in the flesh until the last sequence. But you see his sword cane and his nine victims, and that's enough!

Elizabeth Allan brings charm and beauty to the exciting picture. That she is Scotland Yard's Chief Commissioner's daughter doesn't keep Montgomery from making ardent love to her.

AT THE GRAND

George O'Brien has one of the finest physiques yet allotted to a man. But he takes every precaution to hide the fact.

He has his clothes tailored to give the illusion of slenderness. The extra long lapels on his coats accentuate his height and keep from notice the breadth and thickness of his shoulders. Other tricks of tailoring are also employed to keep his 196 pounds from being too noticeable.

His new, non-western picture, "Ever Since Eve" finds him seeking the heart and hand of Mary Brian, with Herbert Mundin and Betty Blythe as important bystanders. It is the next attraction at the Grand Theatre.

"Building a Canal or Buying a Car... — good Engineering Counts"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH CONSTRUCTION ENGINEER FRANK VIOLETTE, PANAMA CANAL ZONE ★ ★

"We punish cars down here...but let me tell you how my Plymouth takes it."

FRANK VIOLETTE is a modest man. He talks very little about his supervising millions of dollars' worth of Panama's construction. But ask him about cars...

"In the Canal Zone, our everyday driving soon proves to us how a car takes punishment. I've found that of all the low-priced cars, Plymouth stands up the best."

And Mr. Violette isn't surprised that Plymouth proved to be the strongest. As an engineer, he knows from long experience that steel reinforced with steel is the safest form of construction you can have.

But Plymouth engineers didn't stop with this one safety feature. They added Hydraulic Brakes—the safest brakes made.

Then, they built in extra comfort, too...with patented Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing.

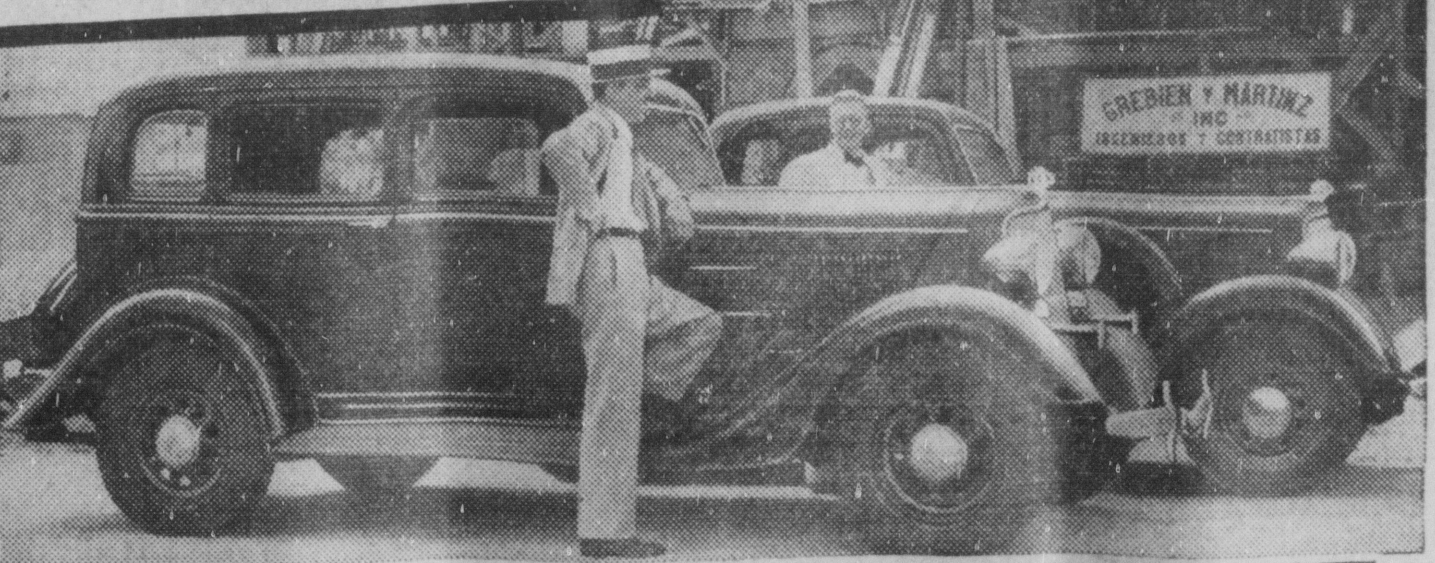

Any Dodge, DeSoto or Chrysler dealer will demonstrate Plymouth.

2 "We depend on steel for safety in the Canal and in our buildings. We've found it's positive proof against everything from termites to earthquakes. So I knew a Safety-Steel Body would be strongest."

3 "Some of our roads weren't built for comfort. But my Plymouth was. Its Individual Wheel Springing levels off the bumps. And Hydraulic Brakes keep me out of many unexpected mud holes."

Costly Road Maintenance

ADDITION of another mile to the system of improved highways does not necessarily mean one less mile of road to maintain. The old-fashioned up-in-the-middle and down-in-the-gutters dirt road which was maintained by a little filling and a spring scraping cost less to maintain than most types of hardsurface construction. The public is more particular about the dressing up of good roads than it is about the upkeep of bad roads. It has more patience with a neglected mud road than with the little things that go wrong with good roads. Pennsylvania now spends more to clear her improved highways of snow than she spent to maintain her entire highway system in the days when the reputation of new roads was not what it is today. Last winter that state spent $2,000,000 plowing snow and making the hills and curves non-skid with cinders. In the old days the mud road needed the snowplow badly enough but it never got it. And yet winter maintenance is a small item compared with the spring and summer repairs. The best road built is an unending source of expense and some types of improved construction cost more than $1000 per year per mile to keep in good condition. When America began building good roads it got itself out of the mud and dust but not out of the expense of highway maintenance.

Twenty Per Cent for Taxes

THE high cost of government needs no proof to the man who pays taxes in the multitudinous ways most men pay taxes, yet even the tax-oppressed individual is a little startled when he reads that 20.3 per cent of the nation's income is taken for taxes. When the national income was at its peak and taxes were still climbing it took nearly 12 cents out of every dollar to run the government, but now that the national income is but a shadow of its former robust and rosy self, with taxes still refusing to take off weight, a fifth of each pay check and dividend check is confiscated by local, state and national government. Had it not been for the necessity of providing work for the jobless and doles for the needy the country might have made some headway against the staggering weight of taxation during the last four years. The people have been indulgent only because the tax collector was not importunate and all knew that if relief funds did not come from the government they must come direct from the people. Nobody supposes that the taxpayers would have consented to the expenditure of the billions under the national recovery program had they not felt that the resulting increase in the national tax bill was the least of several alternative evils.

SYNOPSIS
Stanley Paige, beautiful, young society girl, is left penniless when her lawyer speculates with her money and loses. Stanley, however, cares little for the money, feeling that she has everything in the love of fascinating Drew Armitage. But when Drew breaks their engagement saying it would be impossible to marry on his income, she is heartbroken. Rather than accept aid from her wealthy friends, Stanley rents an inexpensive furnished room and disappears from her exclusive circle to try and make her own way. Her friends agree that a better way would have been to marry handsome Perry Deverest, but Stanley cannot forget Drew. Then, one day, she meets John Harmon Northrup, struggling young author. A strong friendship ensues and they become very necessary to one another. John Harmon is in love with Stanley but refrains from telling her because of Drew. As time passes his kindness and consideration win Stanley's affection and they are married. Knowing that she does not love him as she does Drew, he says to her, "That you can give me anything at all, however little, is more happiness than I ever expected to know." They celebrate at their favorite restaurant.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT
"It's going to be fun living with you, Stanley. What shall dessert be, Mrs. Northrup—ice cream or Gruyere cheese?"
"Neither," Stanley decided at once. "Let's have waffles and those little pots of honey and some more coffee. Do you think I'll ever learn to make coffee as good as this, John Harmon? I've an idea it's a very important part of a successful marriage."

"Everything about marriage is important, I guess," He looked deep into her eyes, his own intently compelling. "It's about the most important thing in the world, I expect."
"I know. And we're just beginning—and so much can happen to spoil everything."
"Listen, Stanley," John Harmon continued to hold her eyes with the intensity of his own brown ones. "Let's not spoil—anything. Let's promise to stop before that happens. Do you see what I mean? We can't have anything for each other, can we? We can't have the earnestness, a sweet need of each other. If the time ever comes when we can no longer give these things, let's not try to make any second-best sort of relationship do. Let's not spoil what we've had by giving anything less. Let's just not give anything at all—but go quickly before we destroy what we've already had."

Stanley met his eyes gravely in the wavering candlelight. She wished suddenly that she might make him understand in that little moment how clearly he had shown her that he understood. But there was no way except to answer: "I think I know what you mean, John Harmon. You're trying to tell me that if the time ever comes when I'm not completely happy with you and want something else more—I am free to go."

"Yes, that's it. Free to go, owing me nothing."
"And you, John Harmon?"
"It applies to me too, Stanley."
"But you will never go," said Stanley softly.
"No, I shall never go," repeated John Harmon quietly.
Then a waitress in a quaint peasant costume brought them crisply golden waffles and delicious honey in little stone pots and they became gay and laughed and said silly little inconsequential things

"But now there is so much I want to do for you, Stanley. Money has suddenly become very important to me, dear."

to each other, and only in the back of John Harmon's eyes and in the wistful little twist to Stanley's smile did the seriousness remain. They went out soon after that and walked through the deserted square and two blocks north to John Harmon's house.

He had left a fire burning slowly in the grate, and in its mercifully concealing glow the old room lay serene and touched with a sort of beauty; warm shadows danced faintly on the shabby walls, pewter candlesticks shone softly against the black mantel, a gentle light picked out the faded colors of the old rugs, fell tenderly on the dull maple desk, the rubbed cherry of the drop-leaf table. At the high windows the gay chintz lost some of its defiance, blended gently into the warm shadows; before the hearth stood their chief extravagance, a wing chair, deeply inviting, with her name in a little embracing gesture. "It's a lovely room, John Harmon!"

"It's a lovely person who's come to live in it," He stood just behind her and now his arms went about her, held her fast. But he did not kiss her. Not then nor in the hours that followed. In that moment John Harmon denied passion to his marriage. What it cost him even he did not know. What he did know was that the sort of love she had felt for that other man he felt for her. But he had promised himself that he should never know what she would give him in return. And just how little that was, compared with what he could give her, he knew only too well.

So now he did not kiss her, because any kiss he could have given her then would have betrayed him utterly. He only held her for a brief, exquisite second in his arms. Then he let her go and they moved together toward the waiting fire. "Valerie hopes we'll make a go of it, but I know she thinks we'll starve," Stanley, curled up in the wing chair, smiled at John Harmon when he had flung himself familiarly on the hearth at her feet. His knees were propped up beneath his chin, his hair was rumpled into its natural state of confusion. "Valerie's seen too much of

Facts About "Skin Itch"

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

HARDLY A DAY passes that I do not receive a letter requesting information about "skin itch". The sufferer usually describes his affliction as something unbearable. As a rule he has resorted to salves and other remedies without relief.

Of course, it is difficult accurately to diagnose a skin eruption without examination of the patient. But it is probable that many cases of the so-called skin itch are caused by a parasite known to the doctors as "acarus scabiei".

The medical term for this particular disturbance of the skin is "scabies". It is commonly seen wherever filth and unhygienic conditions exist. It afflicts persons who are careless about their personal hygiene, yet it sometimes attacks individuals who are scrupulously clean. These innocent victims contract the trouble in public bathhouses, wash-rooms and rest rooms, especially during the summer months. Frequently, it is prevalent in camps, hotels, beaches and summer resorts where sanitary measures are lacking.

Certainly, I do not mean to imply all skin eruptions are necessarily scabies. There are many disturbances of the skin that are much alike and can only be properly diagnosed by a careful medical examination. But if you suffer from a skin eruption and have any of the symptoms I shall describe, scabies should be suspected.

In this condition the skin itches and becomes red. Usually this is first noticed between the fingers, under the arms or in the groin. As a rule, the inflammation is found in those parts of the skin covered by hair. But it quickly spreads to other parts of the body.

If the inflammation is due to scabies and you carefully examine the involved part, you will notice tiny furrows in the skin. The furrow is caused by the parasite which has burrowed into the skin. At the end of the furrow a grayish speck may be observed. If examined even with an ordinary magnifying glass the parasite can be seen.

Scabies is best treated by the application of a sulphur ointment, which should be spread over the entire body. A good plan is to use the ointment after a bath before retiring. In the morning take a warm bath and remove all of the ointment by scrubbing the surface with a stiff brush and soap. Repeat this procedure until no trace of the parasites can be found. Fresh underwear should be used daily.

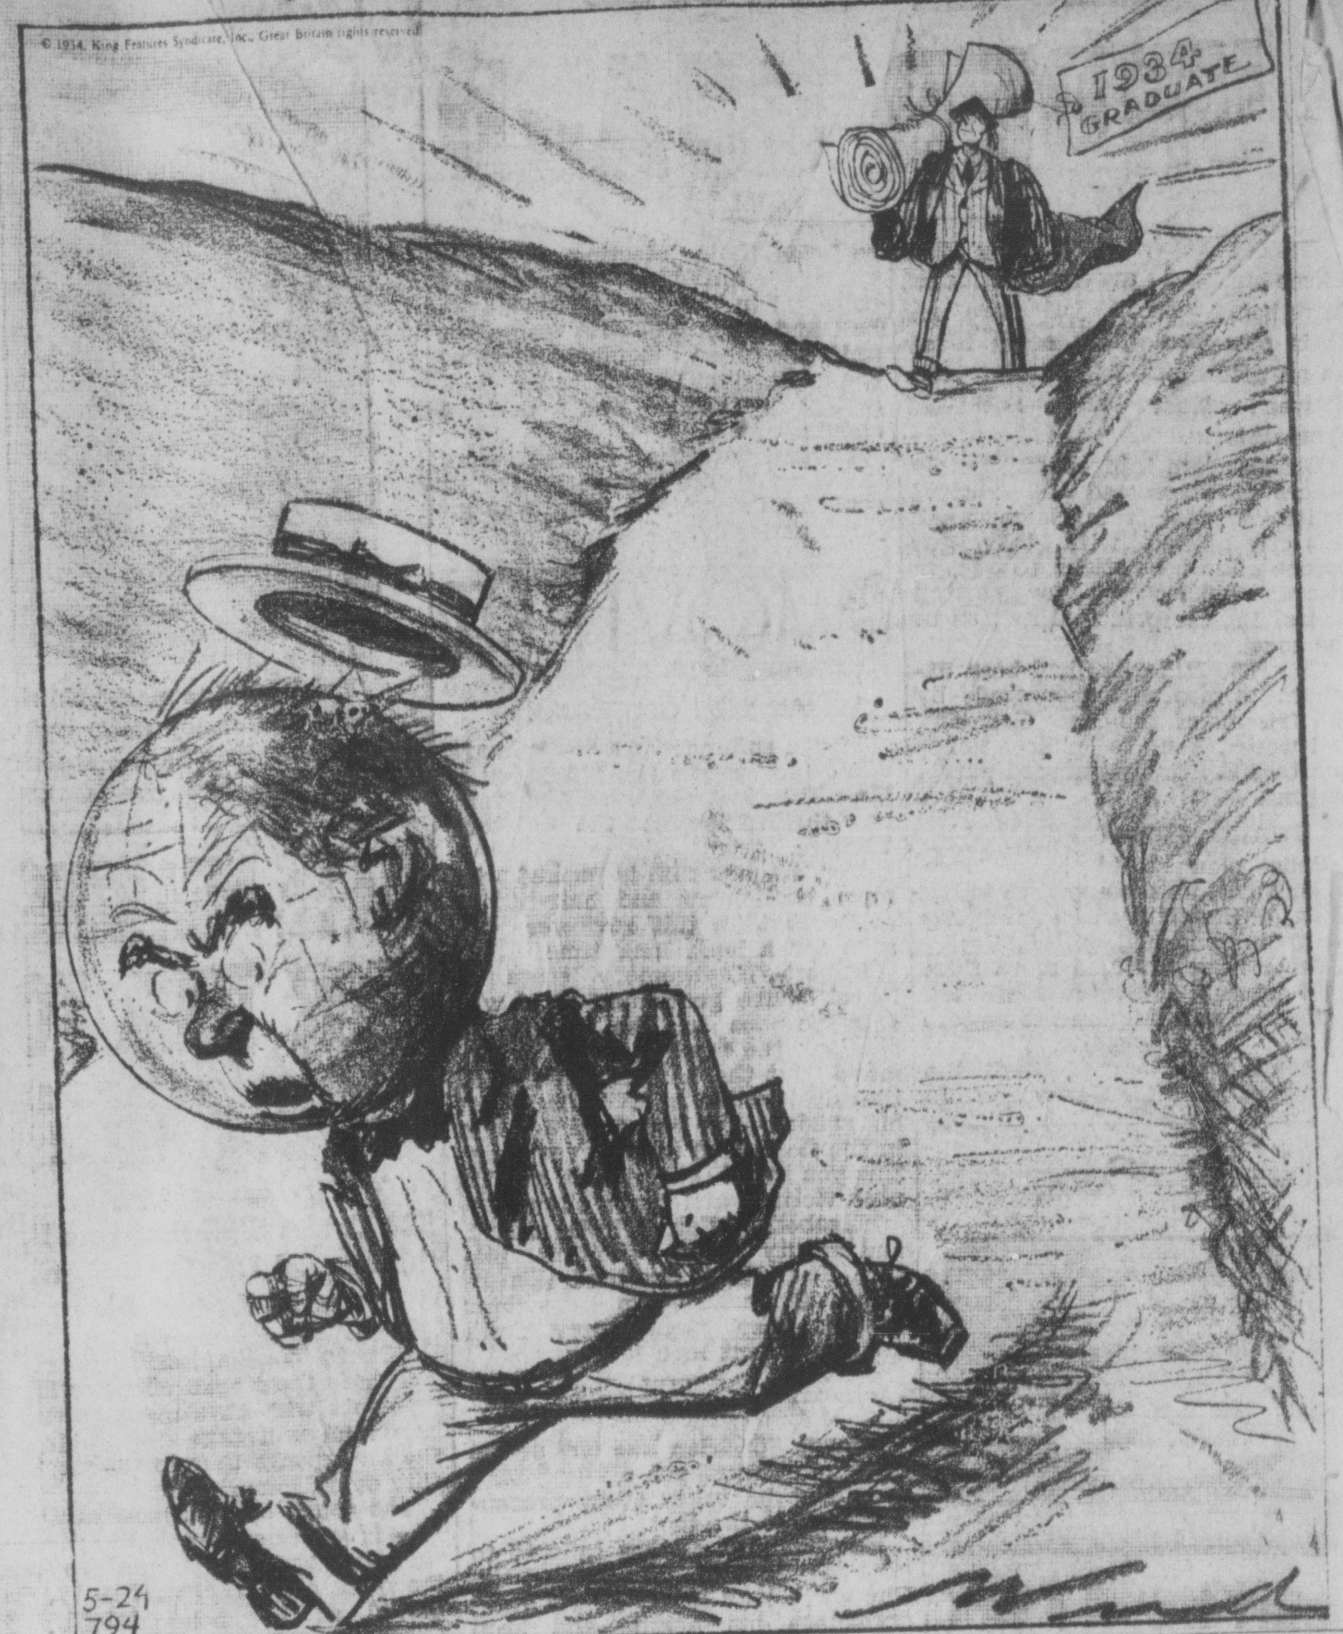

Extremely Contagious
Bear in mind that this disease is extremely contagious and quickly spreads from one individual to another. For this reason, it is important and care in the handling of linen, towels and underclothes. Soiled linens should be washed separately and every effort must be made to avoid contact with other members of the family.

This disease is often referred to as the "seven-year itch". Do not be misled by the common but unfounded belief that this affliction recurs every seven years. It will recur as long and as often as the individual comes in contact with the parasite of scabies.

Lost Meteorite

DENVER—Someone living near Strathcona, Alberta, Canada, may find a meteorite, H. H. Nininger of the Colorado Museum of Natural History, announced after communicating with numerous residents of southern Canada and northern Montana. Nininger plotted the direction in which the meteor was seen from various localities, and estimated that it struck the earth 50 to 70 miles west of Strathcona.

PATTERN 9948

If you are the kind of woman who is what is called "difficult"—which is usually just another way of saying discriminative—this is your frock. No one can find fault with it. It is so simple and lady-like. BUT it is just the first of its good points. It is as smart as can be with its slenderizing skirt and its graceful cape finished with scallops, which provide a decorative touch, and turn its simplicity into a charming chic that is really unusual.

Pattern 9948 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Merry-Go-Round

California's Congressional delegation is buzzing with a story of an alleged Republican "plot" revolving around Senator William Gibbs McAdoo. . . . During McAdoo's recent illness (he is now well on the road to recovery) California Republican moguls got together and decided that in the event of McAdoo's demise they would propose to Republican Governor Ralph that he name movie magnate Louis Mayer to the vacancy. . . . Mayer, a strong Hooverite, led the ex-President's forces in California in the disastrous 1932 campaign. . . . Friends of Comptroller of the Currency "Jeff" O'Connor are still joshing him over a recent embarrassing experience he underwent in Jackson, Miss. . . . "Jeff" and RFC Chairman Jesse Jones were speakers at a large gathering in the southern city, with Jones as the first orator. . . . "Jeff" didn't arrive until after Jesse finished. When he unfolded his manuscript and began speaking the startled audience discovered that it was word-for-word the same speech Jesse had just made. . . . Both officials got their addresses from the canned-speech factory of the Democratic National Committee. . . . State Department archive officials say that President Roosevelt's signature longer than any of his recent predecessors in signing his few minutes. . . . Usually after a few months, Chief Executive start abbreviating their names, but not Roosevelt. . . . Although he signs official papers for at least half an hour each day he still writes: "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

PLANETS STUDIED BY GIRL SCOUT TROOP

Girl Scout Troop No. 4 had a delightful experience Monday evening.

After meeting at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ward Robinson, S. Pickaway-st, the scouts went to the home of Dr. E. J. Lilly, E. Union-st, where they were introduced to the mysteries of the starry universe.

The moon with its craters, mountains and lava lakes were viewed through the telescope while Dr. Lilly explained content, distance and atmosphere.

The lens was then turned to the planet Jupiter and the three moons which were clearly visible were pointed out.

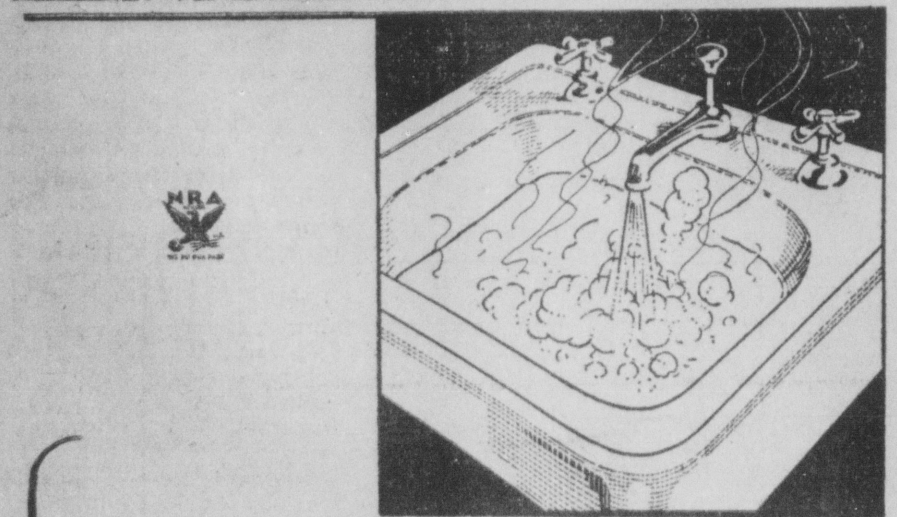

The north star was sighted, the Big Dipper as well as the Twins were fixed in mind.

Dr. Lilly's clear and kindly explanations were deeply appreciated by members and leaders of the troop.

Other pleasures of a similar kind are anticipated by the troop for summer evenings.

CAST FOR SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Buttered Side Down," a three-act comedy to be presented by the class of '34 at the high school auditorium, Thursday and Friday evenings, May 24th and 25th.

wardrobe mistress; Mary Katherine Wolfe, property mistress; Ruth Newland, "Alvira Jones"; Martha Rader, director's assistant; last row, Earl Gordon, stage crew; Jimmy Smith, publicity; Robert Friece and William Wilkins, stage crew; William Weldon, stage manager; and Dale Ankrom, head of stage crew.

Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, who takes the part of "Elly Smith" and Mary Curtin, who plays "Penelope Jones," were not present at the time the picture was taken.

"Buttered Side Down" was written especially for presentation by high school groups and according to the reception given the "taster," which was presented to the student body on Monday afternoon it promises to be a success.

The central figures are "John Smith," the erstwhile meddler, and his long-suffering, but not too long, wife, whose continuous harassing of her husband affords much comedy. Other characters who contribute mirthful sketches are "Gus," the plodder; and "Professor Ebright," who stuttered before "Pop" cured him. The chronic word battles of "Eulalie and Fred Upham" over their son, "Dorsey," are also long-to-be-remembered high spots.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of J. H. Gill, will furnish the music for the play.

Reserved seats may be secured at the Temple Drug Store. The price for admission is 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for students.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Underwriting Bankers Fail to Receive Security Act Exemption

WASHINGTON—The Wall Street drive against the Securities Act has not abated a bit. But as Congress draws toward its close, the fight has taken a more subtle turn.

The latest was a move made through the unsuspecting and sometimes slightly gullible Henry Morgenthau, who, while heartily for the Securities Act, doesn't want to see the flow of private capital curtailed.

So last week, Young Henry invited Senator Fletcher, Rock-of-Gibraltar Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee to lunch. At lunch also were various New York bankers. The strategy the bankers outlined briefly was this:

To relieve underwriting houses from any liability under the Securities Act.

This would mean that a big underwriting house, as for instance J. P. Morgan and Company, would underwrite an issue but not distribute it. The distributing houses would be liable for losses under the Securities Act, but not the underwriting house.

The catch, however, is that salesmen of the bonds immediately would whisper: "This is underwritten by the House of Morgan," which might carry real weight.

Old Senator Fletcher listened carefully to the plan, proved the granite wall he has been ever since the banking investigation started. He said: "No."

Comfortable

Farm-born and reared, Henry Wallace makes no pretense at being a Beau Brummel.

Employees of the Agriculture Department over which he presides never are surprised to see him with his tie askew, a forelock hanging over his nose, and clothes disheveled.

But they were astonished the other day when the Secretary of Agriculture calmly padded in his socks through the corridors of their building to his private office.

Wallace had not gone "native." What had happened was that he had spent a part of his lunch hour playing tennis on a public court in nearby Potomac Park, when a messenger hurriedly called him to answer a phone call from the White House. His tennis shoes hurting him, Henry had removed them, walked the short distance in his stocking feet.

Lucky Break

Roosevelt's friends view "The Literary Digest" poll as about the luckiest thing that could have happened to the New Deal.

Those friends who have their ears to the ground are convinced—and it looks as if they are right—that Roosevelt still has overwhelming support throughout the country. He may have slipped a little, but not much.

The "Digest" poll began by showing this, and chances are it will continue to do so.

With such concrete evidence before voters and candidates this fall a big boost is given to the campaign slogan of "Support the President." Most politicians are sheep. They go with the flock.

Sissy

Speaking of chips from the old block, consider the case of Eugene Vidal, Jr., 12-year-old son of Commerce Department Director of Aeronautics.

Since Eugene was 4 years old, he has been flying in airplanes, but never has his father been willing to do any stunting with him. However, at the ripe old age of 12, he finally persuaded Director Vidal that he was old enough to try some fancy stuff.

They went for a brief hop over nearby Virginia, did some minor maneuvers. Young Eugene came back looking blue. Fred Roper, son of the Commerce Department Secretary, asked Eugene junior whether he had done a vertical turn.

"You mean that thing where you turn on one side?" inquired the youth. "Sure, but that's nothing. I tried to get him to fly."

FATHER SLAYS SON, 20, FACES DEATH CHARGE

Harley Stewart, of Near Laurelville, Surrenders After Running Away

ARGUMENT IS CAUSE

Question Two in Death of Aged Widow

Harley Stewart, 50, of near Laurelville, was held in Hocking jail today without bail, accused of shooting to death his 20-year-old son, Carl, after an argument over a dog.

Stewart, who disappeared into the hills surrounding his home, was taken into custody Tuesday morning at the home of a neighbor, William Trux, by Joe Farbeann, Hocking-co deputy sheriff.

According to Farbeann, he admitted the killing. It is believed first degree murder charges will be filed.

The shooting happened, it is reported, after Stewart killed a dog belonging to his son Sunday. While arguing Monday afternoon, the father locked himself in the house and the youth, trying to get in, broke a window in the kitchen door. It is claimed the father shot his son from a distance of five feet.

FLED INTO WOODS

Stewart then fled with his single-barrel shotgun.

Neighbors said he had driven his wife from the home two weeks ago.

The young man died at the home at 5 p. m. Tuesday, two hours after he was shot.

Besides his father he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Clara Mae Congrove Stewart, and two brothers, residents of Chicago. The Stewart family is well known in the Laurelville district.

Funeral arrangements in charge of H. E. Defenbaugh and Son, of Tilton, are incomplete.

PAIR QUESTIONED

GREENVILLE, May 22.—Two men, brothers, have been picked up at Terre Haute, Ind., in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Belle Harter, 69-year-old widow, and the looting of her home in New Madison, near here, Sheriff Lynn Brown of Darke-co, announced today.

Sheriff Brown said he would leave immediately for Terre Haute to take the pair into custody.

The men being held at Terre Haute gave their names as Casius Chandler, 28, and Ervin Chandler, 20, both of Grand Falls, N. Y. Advances here stated that they had confessed to looting Mrs. Harter's home, but denied knowledge of the woman's death.

Mrs. Harter's unclothed body was found in her home yesterday where she lived alone. She had been beaten, gagged and lashed to her bed. The house had been turned topsy-turvy apparently in a search for money.

Wiley Post Planning Two Spectacular Efforts To Break Existing Records

NEW YORK, May 22.—Wiley Post of Oklahoma City, famous round-the-world aviator, has two spectacular flights in mind, he revealed in an interview today.

They are:

1. A high altitude speed flight at around 300 miles an hour.
2. An England to Australia flight (12,000 miles) in less than three days.

Post, who hasn't been front page news in a big way since last summer, is quietly tuning up his globe-girdling monoplane, "Winnie Mae," at Newark (N. J.) airport for the two projected flights.

IN FEW WEEKS

He intends to make the altitude flight first—possibly within the next few weeks. Just when, or from what airport, he would not say.

The other flight he will attempt next October in connection with the MacRobertson International air race from London, England, to Melbourne, Australia, for a purse of 12,000 pounds which, at current rates, is $61,680.

Post was asked to predict how fast he thought the trip from London to Melbourne could be made. He replied:

"The only thing in the way of a prediction from me on that flight was when I was talking to an Australian and I told him the winner of the race would make it within 72 hours."

Post said the "Winnie Mae" has been equipped with all kinds of new gadgets. He wouldn't say how much the special apparatus cost him.

"That's my business," he said.

MOTOR CHARGED

At any rate the plane will use a supercharger on the motor and also a controllable pitch propeller and other equipment which he expects will raise the ship's normal high speed from 155 miles an hour up to around 300 miles an hour.

GALION BANK LOOT $5,403

Van Meter Again Seen In Holdup; Bank Employees Forced to Ride Auto.

GALION, May 22.—Loot obtained by the two machine-gun bandits who raided the Commercial Savings Bank here yesterday and escaped after forcing the bank employees to accompany them in their automobile—as shields, today was officially established at $5,403.40.

Definite check on the amount of the loot was made while police officials throughout this section of the state were conducting a vigorous search for the two gunmen, one of whom is believed to be Homer Van Meter, a Dillinger henchman.

Suspicion that one of the bandits may have been Van Meter arose following the announcement of police that the license number on the automobile used by the two men was the same as that on the car used by two men who robbed a Fostoria bank of $17,000 recently, and escaped after wounding five persons, including Police Chief Frank Culp.

One of the two men in the Fostoria bank holdup was identified as Van Meter.

The bandits yesterday staged the holdup here at about 2:30 p. m. They escaped after forcing Miss Hazel Nickols, a bookkeeper, and assistant cashiers C. W. Tracht and Earl Clements to accompany them in their automobile. Miss Nickols and the two assistant cashiers later were released unharmed about three miles north of Galion.

The robbery was the second staged at the Commercial Savings Bank here in the last six years. In 1928, the bank was robbed by "Pretty Wilbur" Hand and his gang.

Saturday is Poppy Day

Saturday, May 26th, is Poppy Day in Circleville and on that day members of the American Legion auxiliary and members of Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops, sponsored by the Legion and Auxiliary, will be on the streets selling Poppies.

Each little flower means pennies in their pockets and helps to transform dreary hours into sunny minutes.

The poppies which the Auxiliary sell on Poppy day are made by disabled veterans in forty-three

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Members of the straw-board team were jubilant over their one sided victory over the Cincinnati Oils, Monday evening, and after the ball game celebrated the victory in a big way—R. E. Norris, the team's manager, was host to a party on the lawn of his home.

All team members, several members of the opposition, straw-board officials and "Solly," "Rabbi," "Augustine," "Slough Foot" McNeal enjoyed the party—Rather the party enjoyed Mr. etc. etc. McNeal.

The shoe-shiner, who once tried to impersonate Little Jack Little on an uptown street corner, put on some wined dances for the sport enthusiasts—Some guitarists also had part in the program.

It seems that this is fish season but Casey Marion tells a mushroom story that has all the earmarks of a prevarication—He says he found one weighing six pounds and measuring 40 inches in diameter—The boys at the Elks are somewhat reluctant to believe the veracity of the statement, and since Casey didn't press his point, he doubts it too.

This Cleveland Indian ball club, which closely resembles the Toledo Mud Hens of a couple of years ago, seems to be on the way toward some kind of honor—The Indians have bunched the Yankees twice in the Cleveland park and are hoping to take Vernon Gomez into camp today—Former Toledo players with Cleveland are Pearson, Bean, Lee, Pytlak, Trosky, Hale, Knickerbocker.

SOLONS HEAR MONEY ACTION

FDR Asks Congress to Establish Silver; Monetary Agreement Studied.

WASHINGTON, May 22—President Roosevelt today asked congress to establish silver as 25 percent of the metallic currency base of the United States and revealed that he is even now working with other nations toward an international monetary standard embracing both the white metal and gold.

The silver request was expected. Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that he has already started conversations leading to an international monetary agreement came as a surprise. The president outlined the steps contemplated under the silver operations, told of the need for international action, and said: "Accordingly, I have begun to confer with some of our neighbors in regard to the use of both silver and gold, preferably on a coordinated basis, as a standard of monetary value. Such an agreement would constitute an important step forward toward a monetary unit of value more equitable and stable in its purchasing and debt paying power."

HITLER MOB UNDER GUARD

IRVINGTON, N. J., May 22.—Three hundred avowed Hitlerites were being held in jail here for their own protection early today as an aftermath of bloody riots between Nazi and anti-Nazi sympathizers.

Dozens were injured and untold others were arrested, as reserve police squads from Newark and this city battled with tear gas bombs and night sticks to quell a disorder which raged for several hours in the principal section of the town.

The 300 Hitlerites had been attending a meeting sponsored by the friends of the New Germany and were taken to police headquarters in heavily guarded patrol wagons.

GUARD THROUGH DAY
Police planned to keep them under guard until some time today when all possibility of their being set upon again had passed.

The rioting involved more than 2,000 persons and more than 100 policemen were required to restore order.

Then it was learned that the friends of the New Germany were to hold their meeting a large crowd of anti-Nazi sympathizers collected in the street outside the hall and when the first group of uniformed men attempted to enter the auditorium they were set upon amidst catcalls and derisive shouts.

Several of the injured were taken to hospitals, but so far as could be determined, none was injured seriously.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

If you suffer from a weak heart, don't go to see the "Mystery of Mr. X," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new thriller now at the Cliftona Theatre.

For the new film is packed with more excitement and hair-raising elements than this reviewer has seen for a long, long time.

Robert Montgomery stars as Revel, suave gentleman thief who sets the pace at the outset by stealing the famous Drayton diamond. But the horrors enter with the introduction of "X"—or rather his shadow—for you don't see him in the flesh until the last scene.

But you see his sword cane and his nine victims, and that's enough! Elizabeth Allan brings charm and beauty to the exciting picture. That she is Scotland Yard's Chief Commissioner's daughter doesn't keep Montgomery from making ardent love to her.

AT THE GRAND

George O'Brien has one of the finest physiques yet allotted to a man. But he takes every precaution to hide the fact.

He has his clothes tailored to give the illusion of slenderness. The extra long lapels on his coats accentuate his height and keep from notice the breadth and thickness of his shoulders. Other tricks of tailoring are also employed to keep his 196 pounds from being too noticeable.

His new, non-western picture, "Ever Since Eve" finds him seeking the heart and hand of Mary Brian, with Herbert Mundin and Betty Blythe as important bystanders. It is the next attraction at the Grand Theatre.

Tear Walls For Frog

BELLINGHAM, Wash. — Because the nocturnal croaking of the imprisoned frog disturbed the slumbers of county prisoners, workmen here today began tearing out the wainscoting of the basement walls of the county jail in an effort to free the sequestered croaker. "Building a Canal or Buying a Car—good Engineering Counts"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH CONSTRUCTION ENGINEER FRANK VIOLETTE, PANAMA CANAL ZONE ★ ★

"We punish cars down here...but let me tell you how my Plymouth takes it."

FRANK VIOLETTE is a modest man. He talks very little about his supervising millions of dollars' worth of Panama's construction. But ask him about cars...

"In the Canal Zone, our everyday driving soon proves to us how a car takes punishment. I've found that of all the low-priced cars, Plymouth stands up the best."

And Mr. Violette isn't surprised that Plymouth proved to be the strongest. As an engineer, he knows from long experience that steel reinforced with steel is the safest form of construction you can have.

But Plymouth engineers didn't stop with this one safety feature. They added Hydraulic Brakes—the safest brakes made.

Then, they built in extra comfort, too...with patented Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing.

Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will demonstrate Plymouth.

"We depend on steel for safety in the Canal and in our buildings. We've found it's positive proof against everything from termites to earthquakes. So I knew a Safety-Steel Body would be strongest."

"Some of our roads weren't built for comfort. But my Plymouth was. Its Individual Wheel Springing levels off the bumps. And Hydraulic Brakes keep me out of many unexpected mud holes."

PLANETS STUDIED BY GIRL SCOUT TROOP

Girl Scout troop No. 4 had a delightful experience Monday evening.

After meeting at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ward Robinson, S. Pickaway-st., the scouts went to the home of Dr. E. J. Lilly, E. Union-st., where they were introduced to the mysteries of the starry universe.

The moon with its craters, mountains and lava lakes were viewed through the telescope while Dr. Lilly explained content, distance and atmosphere.

The lens was then turned to the planet Jupiter and the three moons which were clearly visible were pointed out.

The north star was sighted, the Big Dipper as well as the Twins were fixed in mind.

Dr. Lilly's clear and kindly explanations were deeply appreciated by members and leaders of the troop.

Other pleasures of a similar kind are anticipated by the troop for summer evenings.

CAST FOR SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Included from left to right are: 1st row, William Ashbrook, "Henry Miller"; John Robinson, "Dorsey Uppham"; Thomas Harman, "Fred Uppham"; Margie Brown, "Eloise"; Betty Brown, "Eloise Uppham"; Lyman England, "John 'Pop' Smith"; Robert May, "Prof. George Ebricht"; Lee Cook, "Gus"; 2nd row, Betty Barnes, "Martha"; Charlotte Moore, "Mary"; Margaret Bower, "Maude"; Mr. E. K. Povenmire, author and director of the play; Russell Skaggs, "Mr. Larson"; Mary Katherine May, wardrobe mistress; Mary Katherine Wolfe, property mistress; Ruth Newland, "Alvira Jones"; Martha Rader, director's assistant; last row, Earl Gordon, stage crew; Jimmy Smith, publicity; Robert Friece and William Wilkins, stage crew; William Weldon, stage manager; and Dale Ankrom, head of stage crew.

Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, who takes the part of "Elly Smith" and Mary Curtin, who plays "Penelope Jones," were not present at the time the picture was taken.

"Buttered Side Down" was written especially for presentation by high school groups and according to the reception given the "taster," which was presented to the student body on Monday afternoon it promises to be a success.

The central figures are "John Smith," the erstwhile meddler, and his long-suffering, but not too long, wife, whose continuous harassing of her husband affords much comedy. Other characters who contribute mirthful sketches are "Gus," the plodder; and "Professor Ebricht," who stuttered before "Pop" cured him. The chronic word battles of "Eulalie and Fred Uppham" over their son, "Dorsey," are also long-to-be-remembered high spots.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of J. H. Gill, will furnish the music for the play.

Reserved seats may be secured at the Temple Drug Store. The price for admission is 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for students.

because

The clean center leaves are the mildest leaves—They Taste Better!

LUCKIES use only the clean center leaves for these are the mildest leaves—they cost more—they taste better. No top leaves because they are under-developed, bitter and harsh. No bottom leaves because they're coarse, dirt-covered, sandy. Only the clean center leaves go into Luckies. Then "It's toasted" — for throat protection. The long, golden strands of fine tobacco are rolled uniformly round and firm... no loose ends. That's why Luckies do not dry out. Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

Gas for Water Heating

Is Worth $1.25 — But Costs Much Less

Gas is worth $1.25 per 1000 cubic feet for water heating, compared to the cost of the next least expensive fuel. Subtracting 75 cents -- a reasonable price for gas -- from this value, you realize a saving of 50 cents on each 1000 cubic feet of gas thus used. This 40-percent discount represents a real bargain. * *
